GEN. NOBILE'S AIRSHIP LANDS IN NORWAY TO BE RE-FUELED

Italia Makes 1150 Mile Trip From Stolp, Germany to Vadsoe in Less Than 30 Hours.

SLIGHTLY DAMAGED IN BEING ANCHORED

Dirigible Probably Will Not Continue to Spitzbergen at Once on Account of Stormy Weather.

By the Associated Press.

VADSOE, Norway, May 4.—Gen. Nobile's dirigible Italia, somewhat delayed in its flight from Stolp, Germany, 1150 miles away, where it took off at 3:20 a. m. yesterday, arrived here at 9:10 a. m. today, made a landing, which was marred only by a slight accident. The airship suffered a small rent in the covering, which is described as unimportant. The craft probably will remain at Vadsoe overnight, perhaps for two days.

The weather reports from the northern districts are not entirely satisfactory, and it is Nobile's desire to proceed under as favorable conditions as possible. A snow-storm began shortly after the landing of the Italia, and stormy conditions prevail across the Arctic.

The children are B. H. Kroger Jr., Chester F. Kroger, Mrs. Lulu Berne, Mrs. Gretchen Barnes, Mrs. Rudolph Homan and Mrs. I. W. Pettingill, all of Cincinnati.

B. H. KROGER GIVES $1,000,000 TO EACH OF HIS SIX CHILDREN

Chain Grocery Head Says He Wants Them to Enjoy His Money While He Is Alive.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., May 4.—B. H. Kroger, 68 years old, who retired recently as president of the Kroger Grocery Baking Co., has bestowed $1,000,000 upon each of his six children. In confirmation of part of the gifts, Kroger said he would give his children the money while he was alive rather than have a larger sum thrust upon them on his death.

The weather reports from the northern districts are not entirely satisfactory, and it is Nobile's desire to proceed under as favorable conditions as possible. A snow-storm began shortly after the landing of the Italia, and stormy conditions prevail across the Arctic.

During the flight from Germany the Italia was favored by fine weather, except across Finland, where snow and high winds were encountered.

The airship will be refueled here before it carries Nobile and his expedition to King's Bay, Spitzbergen, for another conquest of the Arctic wastes.

The crew of a Government steamer and troops were called out to assist in bringing the craft to port.

A large crowd gathered to greet the explorers, who made a good landing after maneuvering for some minutes.

During the night the ship was sighted at 10 o'clock near the town of Kokkola, Finland, about 475 miles south of Vadsoe, on the Gulf of Bothnia. It was headed north.

Good weather favored the expedition throughout and the Italia gilded up the east coast of Sweden and circled over Stockholm just before noon. Ten Swedish military planes escorted the airship, and it went out of its course to permit one of the men aboard, the Finn Malgren, to drop a note to his mother living at Appelviken west of Stockholm.

The crew of a Government steamer and troops were called out to assist in bringing the craft to port.

The children are B. H. Kroger Jr., Chester F. Kroger, Mrs. Lulu Berne, Mrs. Gretchen Barnes, Mrs. Rudolph Homan and Mrs. I. W. Pettingill, all of Cincinnati.

CHICAGO DOG KEPT ALIVE BY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

Pekinese, Injured by Taxisic, Is Taken to Hospital Where Doctors Give Aid.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Wei Ching, Pekinese dog and the only pup in Chicago, at least, to be kept alive by artificial respiration, is out of danger.

Wei Ching, pet of the hotel where his mistress, Mrs. Herman Molner, lives, was struck by a taxi cab several days ago. The dog was rushed to a hospital, where doctors began artificial respiration.

At 2:45 p. m. yesterday a man telephoned to the South Grand Boulevard pharmacy and asked for Murphy. He was told that Murphy no longer was connected with that store, but had a drug store at Ninth street and Franklin avenue.

Fifteen minutes later a neatly dressed young man entered the Franklin avenue store, ordered an ice cream soda, and sat down at a front table. He was served by Murphy's clerk, Miss Ethel Chappell.

"Mr. Murphy was behind a stationery counter toward the rear with his back turned," Miss Chappell testified at today's inquest, which resulted in a verdict of homicide at the hands of a person not known to the Coroner's jury.

"The young man didn't ask me where Murphy was, but he must have heard me when a Negro porter came in with some change and I called back, 'Mr. Murphy, is this change right?'

"The young man ordered a second soda and was eating it when the writer went out of the store. That man then got up, walked back to Mr. Murphy, touched him on the shoulder and said 'Turn around.' Mr. Murphy turned around, and the man drew a revolver and shot him in the side," Mr. Murphy just said what the — and fell to the floor.

"The man who shot him took a good look at me and walked out. I could see his eyes were large. I think I could identify him. He took his hat off while he was eating ice cream."

The slayer disappeared among the shoppers on Franklin avenue.

Murphy, unconscious, was taken to City Hospital, where he died at 3:40 without making a statement.

The slayer was described by Miss Chappell as about 22 years old, five feet seven inches tall, 150 pounds in weight, having brown eyes and thin, pale face, and wearing a blue serge suit and light fez.

CHAPMAN KEEPS $900 IN INTEREST ON LICENSE FUND

Tax Collector Admits He Makes No Return of Cash Paid by Bank on Auto and Other Levies.

CUSTOM TO POCKET AMOUNT, HE SAYS

Officials Assert Money Compenses Them for Responsibility While Money Is on Deposit.

Interest on license tax bank balances, totaling between $900 and $1000 annually is pocketed by License Collector Oliver G. Chapman, the Post-Dispatch learned to-day.

Chapman, who has been collector nine years, contends he is not legally bound to turn over interest to the city, although City Collector Koeln and Circuit Clerk Schmoll do turn over interest on their bank deposits.

Chapman has jurisdiction over the collection of merchants' and manufacturers' taxes, city auto license taxes and other charges for doing business. He settles with the city, state and schools, which participate in the collections, at the end of each week.

Meanwhile, the collections are deposited in banks, so that there is an interest charge paid by the banks from day to day. Although Chapman's total collections for a year average about $4,000,000, the amount of interest paid by the banks is small, because no money is allowed to remain on deposit longer than a week.

Chapman said today, when questioned by the Post-Dispatch reporter, that he had once discussed his return of interest with State Auditor Thompson and had learned from him that it is customary for collectors in Missouri to retain interest on daily bank balances. It had previously been stated that Koeln is the only Collector in the State who returns his interest to the city. Last year Koeln's interest return was more than $6000.

Collectors who retain their interest attempt to justify it by the fact that while the money is in the bank awaiting transfer to the city, schools and State, the Collector is personally responsible for it. It has been held that if a bank failed, for example, the Collector was liable for the money lost in the crash.

Therefore, these collectors contend, since neither the city nor State is responsible for the money until it is turned over to its Treasurer, it has no right to prescribe where it shall be placed, what interest shall be drawn, or what shall be done with interest when it is paid by the bank.

Technically, Chapman is a state officer, although elected by vote of citizens of St. Louis. His office was created by special act of the Legislature. The salary is $4000 a year.

HEAD OF DEFUNCT TRUCK CONCERN SUED FOR $233,384

Receiver of Power Truck and Tractor Co. Sees Amount Due From Gov. Craven.

Former G. Craven, former president of the defunct Power Truck and Tractor Co., was sued in Circuit Court today by Fred G. Schmoll, receiver liquidator of the corporation, for $233,384, alleged to be due from him. Craven, who has an office in the Central National Bank Building, has maintained in past discussion of this claim that he did not owe it.

One item is $8,224 for the balance of proceeds of sales of stock and $6,048 similarly in sales of gold notes. It is alleged that Craven contracted to sell stock and notes for the company and sold 3881 shares of stock for $386,100. The other item charges that Craven failed to account to the company for $122,158.49 collected as partial payments on stock and $4925.39 on notes, where subscribers failed to complete their payments and the securities were not issued.

CREW OF BREMEN TO SPEND THREE DAYS IN ST. LOUIS

Fliers Will Accept Only Invitations Which Include Them All, Mayor Is Informed.

which the Tammany organization is getting ready to display at Houston, persons high in that organization profess to have been convinced that prohibition is not going to be a big issue in the next campaign. They say that their reports from various quarters indicate that it is not now one of the subjects uppermost in the political discussions. The leaders say, therefore, that they are ready to go a long way in promoting what they believe will be harmony within the Democratic party.

The bosses are looking to Gov. Smith to write his own personal platform in respect to prohibition. And they will be quite content if this personal platform is written openly after the nomination has been made, instead of being inserted in the declaration of party principles. It is not known whether Gov. Smith himself is in entire accord with this idea.

Several weeks ago the Governor sent a letter read at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington in which he suggested that the party should take a clear, definite and progressive stand on all issues, including the Eighteenth Amendment. It has since been indicated that when he chose to define his national policies he would speak as clearly with respect to prohibition as about the farm issue or any other less dangerous matter.

The three flyers of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen, are to be in St. Louis May 14, 15 and 16, and will accept only such invitations as include all three, their personal representative in New York notified Mayor Miller today. The ride is made so that none may be preferred above the others.

They will fly to St. Louis from Milwaukee. From St. Louis they will go to Detroit.

A committee to co-operate with Mayor Miller's committee in entertaining the flyers was appointed today at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Air Board of the Chamber of Commerce. Members of the committee are Otto Matl, Victor L. Houser and Walter B. Wiesenburger.

JACK DEMPSEY AND WIFE SIGN THEATRICAL CONTRACT

Former Heavyweight Champion and Mate to Appear in "The Big Fight."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Jack Dempsey and his wife, Estelle Taylor, are to tread the boards of Broadway under the tutelage of David Belasco next fall.

The former heavyweight champion and his movie actress wife have signed a contract with Sam H. Harris to appear in "The Big Fight," at a Broadway theater Belasco will direct the show in rehearsals starting some time in August. It is scheduled to open in September. Harris said the contract called for the highest salaries ever paid in any theatrical production.

Smith May Delay Statement.

But the Governor, unless he changes his plans, is not going to be in Houston. It has been indicated recently that he might defer all expression of his personal views on national issues until after the nomination. Persons who were apprised today of the Tammany attitude expressed the view a situation might thus be created which would make it necessary for him to step out far in advance of the platform written by his party. For unless Tammany takes the lead in demanding an anti-prohibition plank it is doubted whether other wets forces in the party will be strong enough to put one over.

In professing a willingness to conciliate the dry forces of the party the Tammany people do not overlook the thought that in the big Eastern States Gov. Smith's wets are going to be one of the most important factors in the campaign if he is nominated. But they say that his reputation will get him the wet votes anyway and that he is quite capable of saying anything further that may be needed on the subject without any platform commitment. And efforts to insert a wet plank are certain to involve a fight.

Among the callers at Gov. Smith's headquarters was C. G. Smith, owner of the Fairmont (Va.) Times, who is a candidate for delegate to the convention. The West Virginia primaries will be held May 29. The caller said there was no doubt Gov. Smith would be with the whole delegation.

Hylan Thinks of Running Again.

NEW YORK, May 4.—John F. Hylan, former Mayor of New York, today is being discussed as a possible candidate again for the office at the next election following his departure yesterday to the effect that he would be a candidate. Hylan, in announcing he would run again for Mayor, stated that he would do so on the issue that the Walker administration had failed purposely to keep its pledge to maintain the 5-cent subway fare.

SCALPERS GET $6 FOR TICKETS TO PARTY FOR FLYERS

Scramble in New York to Attend German Societies' Reception for Members of Bremen's Crew.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 4.—The British naval supply ship Bacchus, after sinking the Greek ship Falafos noon today, filled with water and this afternoon was herself reported sinking in the English Channel off the Isle of Wight.

The police reported that few of the 3500 tickets distributed for the occasion at 50 cents apiece had found their way into the speculators' booths and were sold for as high as $6.

The gals affair of the United German Societies topped off a heavy day for Baron von Huenefeld, Maj. Fitzmaurice and Capt. Kochi, who began at 11:33 a. m. when they dropped down on Miller Field, Staten Island, after having flown from Washington in two hours and 13 minutes. Capt. Kochi piloted the sister ship of the abandoned monoplane Bremen, the airplane having been fitted with the Bremen's own propeller.

Crowd of 5000 at Theater.

The airmen appeared at the Metropolitan at 9 p. m. where police were having a hard time to disperse a crowd of 5000 who gathered in Broadway. As they entered the opera house the 3500 German-Americans rose and shouted for the present at least.

The first of these messages reported the Bacchus had sunk an unidentified ship, and after saying the crew were in the water and being picked up, gave the position. Later messages identified the boat as the Greek steamer Ioannis Falafos, 1998 tons with a crew of 224. The Bacchus is a 4500-ton naval supply ship. Still later came a message that the crew of the Bacchus with those they had picked up had been forced to abandon ship.

Kochi, basifuly, thereupon flew to England.

In Maj. Fitzmaurice we salute Ireland," he said. "In Capt. Kochi and Baron von Huenefeld we salute Germany. They not only have brought aliens nearer in space but also in understanding."

Aviators Meet Jack Dempsey.

The three aviators had galloped through the earlier part of their flight to the westward flight across the North Atlantic, the Columbia Broadcasting System announced. They are scheduled to relate their experiences, starting at 8:30 o'clock, Central time, over a hook-up which will include stations WOR, New York; WCAU, Philadelphia; WNAC, Boston; WEAN, Providence; WFBL, Syracuse; WMAK, Buffalo; WCAO, Baltimore; WJAS, Pittsburgh; WADC, Akron; WAU, Columbus; O: WKRC, Cincinnati; WGHP, Toledo; WMAQ, Chicago; WOVO, Fort Wayne, Ind.; KMOX, St. Louis, and KMBC, Kansas City.

"God," said Maj. Fitzmaurice. Dempsey essayed a few words of German, with little success. "Do you speak English?" finally asked the ex-champion. "A little," said Harris, who was to tell him of the first thing you thought of when you landed on Greenly Island?"

"I meant to tell him of the first thing you thought of when you landed on Greenly Island," he said.

Dempsey and the flyers admired each other publicly. Dempsey and his wife had called first on Duke Schiller, at the Ritz, and Schiller had taken them to the airmen.

The crew of the Bremen will go on the air tonight to tell of their westward flight across the North Atlantic, the Columbia Broadcasting System announced. They are scheduled to relate their experiences, starting at 8:30 o'clock, Central time, over a hook-up which will include stations WOR, New York; WCAU, Philadelphia; WNAC, Boston; WEAN, Providence; WFBL, Syracuse; WMAK, Buffalo; WCAO, Baltimore; WJAS, Pittsburgh; WADC, Akron; WAU, Columbus; O: WKRC, Cincinnati; WGHP, Toledo; WMAQ, Chicago; WOVO, Fort Wayne, Ind.; KMOX, St. Louis, and KMBC, Kansas City.

With the prospect of three tracks operating in St. Louis this weekend night, and the Ramona Club both announced the "free gate" had been abolished this year and customers would be admitted only on payment of the 99 cent admission fee. The "free gate" was charged, lured persons to the tracks who could not afford to bet, and hurt greyhound racing.

Detected Winant had been absent from his room at the Hotel Weston for several days and had been drinking heavily. They started an inspection of several known "speakeasies" on the theory that he had been attacked.

Free Gate Abolished.

The Madison Kennel Club, near East St. Louis, which opened Saturday night, and the Ramona Club both announced the "gate" had been abolished this year and customers would be admitted only on payment of the 99 cent admission fee. The "free gate" was charged, lured persons to the tracks who could not afford to bet, and hurt greyhound racing.

Winant, who was 31 years old, and was a member of the class of 1918 at Princeton, was one of the first men to join the American Field Ambulance Corps, an organization of college men which served with the British Army during World War I.

He enlisted in 1915. He served with Section 3 on the Western front and was gassed. He was one of a group of eight men in his unit to be cited for gallant action in picking up wounded around Monastir under heavy shelling in May, 1917. He also received the Croix de Guerre.

Captured by Germans.

After America's entry in the war became a captain in the U. S. Army Engineers. He was captured by the Germans early in 1918, later escaping from a prison camp at Glessen and making his way on foot and without food for two days into Holland.

He was unmarried and was a member of the brokerage firm of Kelly, Drayton & Corvisier.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Winant, brother, the former Governor, and two other brothers, Frederick A. Jr. of Portsmouth, N. H., and Clinton D. Winant of New York.

CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENCY RESPOND TO SENATE INQUIRY

Congressmen Who Aspire to Nomination Quickly Answer Invitations to Tell of Expenses.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—There was a quick response from presidential candidates in Congress to-day to the invitation of the new Senate Campaign Funds Committee that those appear to testify on expenditures.

Curtis of Kansas, Goff of West Virginia, Hull of Tennessee, Reed of Missouri, George of Georgia, Kerrey of Nebraska, Walsh of Montana and Borah of Idaho assented readily. Borah was added to the original list.

Replies from others in the hands of the committee were not immediately made public. Senator Norris noted in his letter that he had spent no money in his Nebraska primary campaign, but had paid $5 to a publisher who had inserted an advertisement in his newspaper and sent a bill to the Senator. He added that his name had been placed on the ballot in his home state against "his better judgment."

MISSOURI PACIFIC BUILDING EXTERIOR IS BEING WASHED

Exterior walls of the new Missouri Pacific Building, occupancy of which was completed this week, are being washed to remove dirt caused chiefly by drippings of dirty water from the cement plastering on the inside, but also due in part to smoke.

Excess water from the plaster job had trickled down the outside during construction. The workmen are tuckpointing the terra cotta walls on three sides of the structure at the same time the washing process is under way.

Some St. Louis buildings are washed every spring to remove the smoke grime, but it has been determined if the Missouri Pacific will need to be cleaned so often, because it is the biggest terra cotta structure here, and this wall material is thought to stay cleaner than stone or brick.

BARGE FOR MISSISSIPPI TRIBUTARIES FAVERED

Denison Bill Approved by House Committee Would Increase Capital to $15,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Denison bill to extend the Government barge line service to tributaries of the Mississippi River was approved today by the House Committee.

Under the measure the capital stock of the Inland Waterways Corporation, which operates the Government barges, would be trebled to a total of $15,000,000.

The jurisdiction over the extension and operation of the barge lines would be placed under the Secretary of War and he would have authority to extend the service on any tributary after the establishment of safe navigation channels and adequate terminal facilities.

Another provision of the bill would direct the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue a schedule of joint rail and water rates.

SHIPPING BILL BEING CONSIDERED IN HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The House today began consideration of the shipping bill which its merchant marine committee substituted for the Jones bill passed recently by the Senate.

The bill was drawn to make possible a more rapid transfer of American merchant ships to private enterprise. The Jones measure would continue for the present at least.

The failure of the bill to pass the committee today was due to a fight made by Alderman Wimer, chairman of the Rapid Transit Committee, who has a rapid transit bill of his own that he wants passed. His bill is designed to allow opposition among downtown property holders to a subway plan and is not so comprehensive as the Mayor's measure.</p

By the Associated Press.

COUTURE - BOUSSEY, France, May 4.—Jazz has brought new prosperity to this musical town, famous center of the manufacture of wind instruments. Here, in the trade founded by Jehan de Hotte-terre, musician to Louis XIV, the finest flutes, clarinets, bassoons, oboes and other instruments have been made for generations. The population of 800 is all in the musical trade, many working at home. Now the jazz age has come, and since the war the output has tripled.

Centuries of history of wind instruments are visualized in the town museum, devoted entirely to rare instruments and records of famous old makers. The museum is also the City Hall and the Mayor, Eugene Loree, is foreman in a clarinet plant.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR LOWDEN REFUSED IN ARKANSAS

Three of Four Delegates-at-Large Lean Toward Former Illinois Governor, However,

By the Associated Press. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 4.—A stubborn and futile attempt was made by nomination supporters of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, for the presidential nomination, to have Arkansas' four delegates-at-large to the national convention instructed for him, at the state convention here yesterday.

Three of those chosen, however, are said to have Lowden leanings and the fourth is an avowed supporter of Secretary Hoover.

They are George L. Mallory, retiring national committeeman; Wallace Townsend, new national committeeman; J. C. Russell, Camden and John W. White, Russellville, the latter an active Hoover worker.

Lowden also got a district delegate here with the election of Arthur W. Campbell from the Sixth district. He was not instructed but is an avowed Lowden man.

Of the five district delegates thus far chosen, two are instructed for Lowden, two are avowed Lowden supporters but are un instructed and one is for Hoover but un instructed. Two remain to be chosen.

The fight on the floor over instructing for Lowden followed submission of a majority report by the resolutions committee recommending such action. A minority report provided that the four be un instructed. The minority report was adopted, 255 to 11.

TWO STILLS OF 250 GALLONS CAPACITY EACH DESTROYED

Police and U. S. Agent Raid Liquor Plants on Rutgers and South Fourth Streets.

Policemen and prohibition enforcement agents destroyed a 250-gallon still they found in a garage to the rear of 3224 Rutgers street yesterday. The fire department today will pump 10,000 gallons of mash from the vat in the place, after which the vat will be destroyed.

Members of the family living at the Rutgers street address said the garage had been rented to a foreigner. They had no knowledge of what the man may have been doing there at any time, he said.

Holding a search warrant for a three-story brick building at 2310 South Fourth street, prohibition agents under Paul Toelle, acting chief, last night approached the place by way of a rear alley and detected a strong odor of whisky mash a little off their path.

Investigating, they discovered a still of 250-gallon daily capacity and a 10,000-gallon mash vat in a stable at the rear of 412 Laramie street. No one was in attendance. Going then to the Fourth street address they found a still of equal capacity and 4000 gallons of mash in a 10,000-gallon capacity vat. There they arrested Joseph Pavia, who, he said, had been hired two hours previously by a man named "Jim," whom he knew nothing further. Pavia gave an address on Shaw avenue.

Mrs. KNAPP'S PAYMENT TO DEPARTMENT STORE TRACED

Prosecution Offers Evidence of Division of State Funds to Her Personal Use.

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., May 4.—The prosecution in the case of Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former Secretary of State, on trial for grand larceny of State census funds, today inquired into her accounts with a Syracuse (N. Y.) department store.

Patrick J. Sullivan, general manager of the store, testified that in February, 1926, the store received a bank draft for $2875, the bulk of which was credited to her account. That is the amount which Mrs. Knapp is charged in the indictment on which she is on trial, with diverting to her own use through a salary check made out to a step-daughter who was not in the service of the State. Eleven other indictments against her are pending.

Letters from the store urging Mrs. Knapp to make payments on accounts of more than $2000, were introduced.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., May 4.—Edgar B. Piper, 63 years old, for the last 18 years editor-in-chief of the Oregonian, died at his home here yesterday of heart disease and attendant complications. He had been ill for several weeks.

BAR ASSOCIATION ASKED TO INDORSE MIXED TICKET

It Will Vote Monday on Proposal to Alter Its Present Plan of Purely Partisan Selections.

A proposal that the St. Louis Bar Association actively participate in the general election next fall and select from Democratic and Republican nominees for the judiciary a recommended list of candidates chosen by merit only, will assume considerable political importance if the proposal carries at the annual meeting next Monday night.

Hitherto the Bar Association has not interested itself in general elections as a body. Its participation has been confined to a poll of members along party lines prior to the primaries—Democratic members voting for a recommended list of Democratic candidates and Republican members selecting Republican candidates for endorsement.

Should the Association adopt the recommendation of the special committee of which Earl F. Nelson is chairman two polls would be conducted, one before the primary and one before the general election. Under the new rules all members would vote in each poll without regard to party affiliations. It is proposed that the Bar Association membership vote as a whole for Democratic and Republican candidates before the primary and then, voting as a whole, select from among the Republican and Democratic nominees a single slate to endorse in the general election.

Many Judgeships to Be Filled. This year nine Circuit Judgeships and two vacancies in the Court of Criminal Correction are to be filled. The terms of Circuit Judges Calhoun, Pearce, Falkenhaler, Frey, Hamilton, Itiner, Mix, Ossing and Taylor will expire and those of Judges Butler and Gayer in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Practical application of the proposed changes in the rules to the specific situation this year would work as follows: June 12 ballots would be sent out to the association members, each receiving a Republican and a Democratic ballot. Each member would then select from the candidates filed in the primary on each side his favored nine Republicans and nine Democrats for the nine circuit judgeships. Hitherto Republican members voted only for Republican candidates and Democratic members for Democratic candidates for Democrats.

The nine Democrats and nine Republicans receiving the highest number of votes in order would then receive the endorsement of the Bar Association as a whole. The balloting would end within a week, all ballots being in by June 19. Again, on Oct. 1, another poll of membership would be held. In this poll each member of the Bar Association would select from among the 18 Democratic and Republican candidates nine he favored for support in the November election. The nine Republicans or Democrats receiving the highest number of votes in order would win the endorsement of the Bar Association irrespective of party affiliations. This poll would close Oct. 8.

Similar procedure would be applied to the candidates for the Court of Criminal Correction.

The political significance of such a departure by the Bar Association might be of great weight. Obviously most objections to the plan would focus on the general election poll. In this poll should Bar Association members follow party lines instead of voting on a basis of merit only, when ever party had a majority within the association membership would be able to get its candidates endorsed and freeze out the other side.

Attorney Nelson, chairman of the committee which formulated the proposed new rules admitted the possibility of such abuses. He said, however:

"The Bar Association is a body of high grade men. We believe they would vote honestly, according to their judgment, for the best possible candidates regardless of politics. It is our impression that the Association is pretty evenly balanced as to parties."

"By having our members choose from among both Democratic and Republican nominees we enable our members to oppose nominees of their own party without embarrassment. Republican lawyers have often complained to me of some of the judicial nominees put up by their party. Under the new rules such men would have the privilege of rejecting the nominees of their own party and voting for Democrats."

Nelson Explains Plan. "The committee are making this proposal because we feel it is the best way of securing frank, nonpartisan opinions from our membership as to the desirability of various judicial candidates. We believe it is our duty to the public to express that opinion as to nominees in the general election as well as to candidates in the primary. We feel the adoption of such a poll would make a certain party put up better candidates."

Nelson added that the proposal followed, in general, recommendations made by the American Bar Association and either under consideration or adopted by bar associations in New York, Chicago and other large cities.

While the Bar Association's in-M'CAWLEY TELLS WET LEAGUE HE IS STILL "BONE DRY"

Author of State Law Says He Wouldn't Favor Repeal if His Election Depended Upon It.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 4.—State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor yesterday asserted he would not advocate repeal of the State "bone-dry" law even if he knew such a position would assure his nomination and election. His statement was made here in reply to a questionnaire on his prohibition views. McCawley is author of the law.

His reply was addressed to Don E. DeBow, secretary of the National Liberty League of Kansas City, who sent out the questionnaire with an announcement that the organization was preparing a slate of candidates for President, Governor and members of the Legislature.

The questionnaire called for McCawley's views on modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of "good" wines and beer, and asked whether he still held the same opinion that he did when he introduced the "bone-dry" act in the 1923 Legislature.

Urge Rigid State Enforcement.

"As I understand the Constitution of the United States," McCawley said, "neither the modification of the Volstead act nor the State enforcement act of which I am the author, could authorize the manufacture, transportation or sale of intoxicating liquors in Missouri. So long as the eighteenth amendment remains a part of the Constitution, laws enacted pursuant thereto should be enforced."

"The Missouri enforcement act should be retained subject only to such changes as may from time to time be necessary to harmonize the State law with acts of Congress on the same subject. In fact, the State of Missouri should so thoroughly enforce its own law on that subject as to render the presence of Federal agents in this State entirely unnecessary."

"It has long been the established policy of Missouri and of the United States, as defined by courts, the personnel of which was not even suspected of being in favor of prohibition, that liquor business is properly subject to police regulation. Under the eighteenth amendment, the only police regulation compatible with outside safety is the enforcement of laws. State and Federal, enacted pursuant to its provisions."

Says Reed Favored Bill.

McCawley said that the State enforcement act, passed in 1923, was ratified by a majority of 275,000 votes in the 1923 election, when an initiative proposition to repeal the law was defeated. He said many influential men known to be opposed to national prohibition, among them Senator Reed of Missouri, had joined the dry forces in opposing repeal of the State enforcement act.

"As much as I would like to be Governor of Missouri," McCawley said, "I would not advocate the repeal of the enforcement act commonly called the 'bone dry' law if I knew such advocacy would assure my nomination and election. On the other hand, if I did not believe that by reason of my long and careful study of the affairs of my State I could as Governor render a worth-while public service, touching in matters in no wise related to the wet and dry question, I would not be a candidate."

PLATFORM OF CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE COVERS WIDE AREA

Loomis J. Fitzsimmons, Attorney, Favors "Wide-Open Town."

Loomis J. Fitzsimmons, an attorney, who has filed for a Republican nomination for Circuit Judge, has published a lengthy newspaper advertisement getting forth his biography and announcing the following personal platform:

Opposition to injunctions in labor disputes; in favor of breweries and distilleries "running full blast"; in favor of a race track, licensed saloons and a "wide-open town" for St. Louis; for a public fund for pensioning school teachers, policemen and firemen; public ownership of the street car system with a 5-cent fare and pensions for employees; elimination of private contractors for public works and exclusive employment of union labor thereon; substitution of Federal banks for private; Government ownership of mines and allotment of land to miners so they could farm in off seasons; pensions for farmers and miners; opposition to birth control; "first-class home rule, minus prohibition" for Illinois.

Fitzsimmons admitted he "took in a lot of territory" for a judicial candidate, but explained that he found people wanted to know where he stood on many issues, and he was willing that they should.

STATE BOARD COULD ARBITRATE WAGE DISPUTE

Law Contemplates Such Settlement of Controversy Between Street Car Company and Its Employees.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 4.—Any increase in operating expenses of the St. Louis Public Service Co., resulting from whatever settlement is made of the wage controversy with the street railway employees, will not prevent the company from earning the legal return on its property, under Public Service Commission precedents, contrary to inferences given in the discussion of wage negotiations now proceeding in St. Louis.

Wages paid by a public utility to its employees are part of the operating expenses and do not affect its right to rates that will give the utility a fair return on the value of the property, (fixed by the commission) in excess of all reasonable expenses, under the regulatory law.

In past cases, the commission has recognized wage increases as justification for rate readjustments, and has given emergency rate increases to meet such conditions when necessary.

Company Can Recoup Losses.

In negotiations over demands of the Carmen for an increase of five cents an hour, to a maximum of 72 cents an hour, the company issued a statement that the annual revenues, based on 1927 experience, would fall about $480,000 short of paying operating expenses and taxes and provide nothing for return on valuation if the increase was granted. The company countered with a proposal to reduce the present wage scale about 9 per cent.

However, the company may recoup any increase in wages or other operating expenses through submission to the Public Service Commission of a showing that its revenues fail to produce a return, in excess of reasonable operating costs.

Members of the Commission have declined to discuss the wage controversy, as it is not before them and will not come before the Commission directly as a wage dispute, unless both sides agree to designation of the Commission as a board of arbitration under a section of the regulatory law authorizing such procedure. Under Commission precedents, utilities with reasonable operating expenses have been granted rates that would give them a fair return, and no rate case is recalled here in which the Commission disallowed as excessive the wages actually paid employees.

Rate Increases Granted.

Numerous cases are in the commission records in which rate increases were granted utilities to meet increased wages, other increased costs, or falling off of revenues.

The St. Louis street railway obtained such a temporary increase last June, from a 7-cent fare to an 8-cent cash fare, two tokens for 15 cents, pending determination by the commission of the company's valuation case and straight 8-cent fare application. The temporary increase was sought by the company on a showing that its revenues were falling off, due chiefly to increased competition from motor busses and private automobiles.

In September, 1919, the commission granted the company, then the United Railways, a temporary increase in fare to 8 cents, two tokens for 15 cents, pending the decision of the valuation case then before the commission. The fare later was reduced to 7 cents, when the investigation was completed.

Increase Based on Payroll.

In granting that increase, the commission held that a temporary increase in rates, pending decision of a case, was authorized, based on increased wages (back pay being amortized over a period of years), increased power costs, and other increases in expenses, to give the company a fair return over all operating costs.

The commission, in the case of the Springfield Traction Co., approved an increase in rates made necessary to meet increased wages of employees and to give a return on the property.

In another case, involving the St. Louis Union Electric Light and Power Co., the commission held it could grant emergency relief to an applicant upon showing that operating costs had increased and existing rates were not meeting requirements. Numerous other similar cases are in the records. Each one is decided upon its merits.

Arbitrated Dispute in 1920.

In 1920 the commission arbitrated a wage dispute between the United Railways and its employees and awarded increase of five cents an hour. The men sought an increase of 25 cents an hour and changes in working conditions. In denying the full demand, the commission held that increases in wages which would result in rates greater than the traffic would bear, were not to be approved.

In the same case, Chairman W. G. Bushy and Commissioner N. W. Simpson, dissenting from the action of the majority, held the 5-cent award was not sufficient.

They held that the fact that the company might be able to obtain other employees or the necessity of increasing rates to meet the increases in wages should not preclude the granting of wages sufficient to permit employees to support, educate and care for their families properly under existing living conditions.

In holding that increases should not be granted that would be greater than the traffic would bear, the commission has considered the "breaking point" in rates, beyond which consumers decrease their patronage rather than pay increased rates. In the pending valuation and rate cases of the St. Louis Public Service Co., expert witnesses for the company testified that the "breaking point" in street car fares was 10 cents.

OMAHA AIR ROUTE WILL SAVE FOUR HOURS ON MAIL WEST

Starting Time From Postoffice Will Be 7:30 P. M. Instead of 3:30, as at Present.

Users of air mail service to Western points will be able to save four hours over present service when the new Omaha-St. Louis line begins operation, Postmaster

Michener told the Executive Committee of the Air Board at a meeting yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.

The present dead-line on mail for the air route is 3:30 p. m. At that hour it must be in the post office ready to be started to the flying field. With the new route in operation, the westbound mail will not leave the post office until 7:30 p. m. The route will connect not only with the transcontinental route at Omaha, but with the Southwestern route to Dallas and the Mexican border, at Kansas City.

The Executive Committee having decided to abandon plans for a public celebration on May 21, the anniversary of Col. Lindbergh's landing in Paris, will shortly consider plans for some other observance of the day.

QUARREL OVER GIRL RESULTS IN SLAYING

Former Moberly Cafe Owner Says He Shot Rival in Self-Defense.

MOBERLY, Mo., May 4.—An argument over Ethel Stephens Wednesday night resulted in the fatal shooting of E. A. Richardson, 25 years old, by O. B. Todd, 45. Todd was riding with Richardson, took his wounded yesterday surrendered to county authorities, saying that he had shot Richardson in self-defense.

Todd told police that as he and Miss Stephens were sitting in an automobile in the northeast part of Moberly last night, Richardson, who also had kept company with the girl, drove up in another car, accosted him and said, "Let's settle this matter right now."

Todd said he attempted to start the car to proceed along the road, but was unable to do so. An argument followed, which ended by Todd's shooting Richardson through the head. The latter died in a hospital a half hour later.

Dan Neal, who was riding with Richardson, took his wounded

MALLINCKRODT ESTATE VALUED AT $2,000,000

Inventory Filed of Property to Be Disposed of at Pleasure of Testator's Son.

An inventory of the estate of Edward Mallinckrodt Sr., chairman of the board of the Mallinckrodt Chemical Co., who died Feb. 1, was filed in Probate Court yesterday. It lists personal property valued at $1,445,795 and realty consisting of a fraction over an acre in Folk County, Fla., which is not appraised.

Most of the personal property is corporation stock of a par value of $1,237,966. Much of this stock is worth more than par, so that actual value of the estate is estimated at approximately $2,000,000, as was told in the Post-Dispatch when Mr. Mallinckrodt's will was filed.

Family Previously Provided For.

The will disclosed that prior to the making of the document Mr. Mallinckrodt had made ample provision for the material support of members of his family and certain relatives, dividing about $15,000 among them.

By the will all of the property listed in the inventory is to be held in trust by the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and ultimately will be transferred to corporations operating exclusively for benevolent, religious, scientific, charitable, literary or educational purposes, the beneficiaries to be designated by testator's son, Edward Mallinckrodt Jr. In his lifetime testator gave more than $1,000,000 to scientific education and charity.

Details of Inventory.

Among the personal property besides stock included in the inventory are: Notes $17,550, bonds $125,000, insurance $500, club memberships $2,050, cash $57,025, chattels $697. Stock of the chemical company $470,000, stock of the National Ammonia Securities Co. $616,500, National Bank of Commerce $100,400, St. Louis Union Trust $20,000, Houston Oil Co. $36,000. In addition the inventory includes 1,000 shares of the American Ship & Commerce Co., value not set forth, and considerable stock and notes of doubtful value. None of the latter is included in the total valuation placed on the personal property.

Mr. Mallinckrodt lived at 16 Westmoreland place. His will names St. Luke's Hospital and Washington University as preferred recipients of the estate, specifying that if the son fails to designate the disposition of any or the whole of the estate then at the son's death these two institutions shall receive what is left.

Your Mother's Choice

... this delicious bread first convinced her that home baking was needless

NO good housewife would have "store" bread on her table four decades ago! It simply couldn't be so fresh and tender and delicious as the bread she baked herself.

Then Baby Label was introduced to St. Louis. Women tried it... frankly skeptical at first. But they bought it again... and again. They told their friends about it. And in an amazingly short time thousands of women had given up home baking forever.

That was 37 years ago... but you, today, can have this same Baby Label Bread. If anything, you'll find it even more delicious than in your mother's day.

If you could only watch us bake it, you'd quickly know the reason. We use only the highest-grade flour. The finest-grade shortening. And rich, wholesome milk.

Even the most particular housewife couldn't take more pains than we do to have every loaf just right.

Just order a loaf tomorrow and test it for yourself. See how your family like it. See how long it keeps fresh and tender.

Just say "Baby Label Bread" to your grocer. It's fresh from our ovens twice every day. Welle-Boettler Bakery, Continental Baking Company.

CARDS IDLE;
7500 CROWD

A heavy rain at game time caused the postponement of today's game between the Cardinals and the Brooklyn Robins. A double-header will be played Sunday, starting at 1:45 o'clock.

About 7500 persons were in Sportsman's Park when the game was called off. Of this number about 7000 were women who gained admission free through the weekly Ladies' Day privilege. The club management announced that next week there will be two "ladies" days, Monday and Friday.

Jess Haines had warmed up for the Cardinals and Clark for Brooklyn. They will probably pitch tomorrow.

GO CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF POOR ATTENDANCE

By the Associated Press.

Miami, Fla., May 4.—The scheduled bout between Tommy Loughren, light-heavyweight champion and Tex McEwen, Canadian heavyweight, here last night, was canceled because of poor attendance.

Less than $500 worth of tickets were sold and the entire card was canceled.

Loughren was to leave today for Philadelphia.

MISS COLLETT ARRIVES ABROAD FOR MATCHES

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 4.—Genna Collell, twice women's golf champion of the United States, set foot on English soil yesterday for her third British title hunt, with a look of grim determination on her fair face.

After losing the first two sets, the South Americans rallied in the third to win after a terrific struggle. Their momentum carried them on through the fourth set. British opposition being quickly swept aside to make the match all square. The deciding set went to the British but the visitors put up a hard fight before being defeated.

The British, as a result of the victory, assumed a lead of 2 to 1 on the two day's play.

Boyd was puzzled by Cyril Eames. Underhand reverse service and the Argentine players often mistimed their close volleys. The Englishmen frequently lobbed successfully.

Mrs. Horn to Play Exhibition Here

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 4.—Miriam Burns Horn of Kansas City, national woman golfer, will play in an exhibition foursome a the Sunset Hill Country Club tomorrow afternoon.

With Johnnie Manion, club professional as partner, Mrs. Horn will oppose Bill Medart and Elliott Whitbread in an 18-hole match.

Ruth will hit his fifth and sixth home runs this year in his sixteenth game. Jack Quinn was the top pitcher for the Athletics against the Yankees at New York on Sunday, May 1. The game today was the sixteenth of the present campaign for the Yankees and Ruth. The home run champion thus far is tied even with his pace for 1927, his record year, although he is slightly behind on the calendar because of the large number of postponements the Yankees have encountered.

RAY KEECH, RECORD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 4.—Ray Keech of Philadelphia, who several weeks ago established a world's record of 297 miles an hour for a mile at Daytona Beach, Fla., arrived in Indianapolis yesterday in search of a mount for the annual 500-mile automobile race at the local speedway May 30.

Keech has never driven on the local speedway, but has done considerable dirt track driving. He established the world's mile straightaway record in a 35-cylinder car, and it was in an effort to shatter that mark that Frank Lockhart, Indianapolis driver, was killed April 25. Keech since has offered to drive Lockhart's car in an effort to better the mark he (Keech) now holds.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—Joe Hauser, Athletics' first sacker, cracked out his fifth homer of the season in the third inning of today's game with Detroit. One was on at the time.

St. Mary's Triumphs.

ST. MARY'S, Kan., May 4.—The St. Mary's College baseball team easily won from Missouri Valley of Marshall, Mo., here yesterday 7 to 2. The Irish connected for 10 hits, half of them being for extra bases.

CHERRY PIE IS

BEHIND, WITH FILE MAKER 3D

By the Associated Press.

JAMAICA, N. Y., May 4.—The Rancocas Stable's Grey Lag, the 10-year-old son of Star Shoot, Miss Minnie, was an easy winner of the Arizona Handicap, a mile and a sixteenth here today. The old horse received a great hand when he returned to the scales. He is a public favorite and as this was his first victory this year, the 5000 racing fans let loose their applause. Cherry Pie finished second and File Maker third.

Oh Say and File Maker jumped away to a long lead and they raced themselves into the ground. The race was run exactly to suit Grey Lag. He was kept several lengths back of the pace, but at the far turn he began to move up. In the stretch he was on even terms with the leader and through both stretch draw away to win by four lengths. Cherry Pie took the place by three lengths from File Maker. Grey Lag's daughter Grey March ran in the first race, but failed to show anything worth while.

Sixteen maidens, 3-year-olds and up, ran in the third event, and it was won by the "good" thing—Brown Wisdom with Fly Across second and Daric third.

Brown Wisdom led throughout and won ridden out by two lengths from Fly Across with Daric third, six lengths back.

Judge Bartlett, with L. Fator up, won the fifth in a drive by half a length from King Jimmy, with Resourceful third. Judge Bartlett rushed into the lead, made all the pace and won in a drive by half a length. King Jimmy finished fast on his own courage.

Fourteen maidens, 2-year-olds, performed in the first race, a five furlong sprint, here this afternoon, and it was won in a rousing finish by the favorite, Artie Kay, at 4 to 1, with O'maree second and Altimeter third. The deciding set went to the British but the visitors put up a hard fight before being defeated.

The British, as a result of the victory, assumed a lead of 2 to 1 on the two day's play.

Boyd was puzzled by Cyril Eames. Underhand reverse service and the Argentine players often mistimed their close volleys. The Englishmen frequently lobbed successfully.

TWO "FAVORITE SON" KANSANS ARE BOOED FOR PRESIDENCY

Democrats Will Seek to Nominate W. A. Ayres and Republicans Senator Curtis.

TOPEKA, Kan.—For the second time in four years the Kansas delegation to the Democratic National Convention will advance a "favorite son" for the presidential nomination, while the State's delegates to the Republican National Convention will support the candidacy of another Kansan for the position at the head of the party ticket.

The name of Representative W. A. Ayres, Eighth District Congressman and only Democrat in the Kansas congressional delegation, is to be placed in nomination for the presidency by the Kansas delegates to Houston, under instructions adopted by the Democratic State convention at Hutchinson. Four years ago the Kansas delegation to the Democratic National Convention at New York led the fight to secure the party nomination for Jonathan M. Davis, then Governor of the State.

LONDON, May 4.—Charles M.

Schwab, head of the Bethlehem

Steel Co., addressing British Iron and Steel Institute members here last night at a dinner where he was guest of honor, advocated combination in the British iron and steel industries and a protective tariff as a means of restoring industrial prosperity.

There is good reason to believe that this is more than mere afterthought history on Schwab's part.

It was reported here several days ago that a new British-American trust is contemplating firing such an amalgamation if

British iron and steel magnates will get together.

Furthermore, British raw steel

manufacturers have been hammering at Premier Baldwin's Tory government to pass a protection

bill through parliament, and though it is unlikely that any such measure will be introduced during the present parliament, the correspondent is informed that British steel magnates are hopeful that the next general election shows

a strong Tory majority, their protection campaign will be successful.

Mond for Trust Plan.

"The home market made the American steel industry prosperous," Schwab said, "and you must have a home market. If I were dictator of this great country I would protect your industry. I would consolidate your iron and steel factories into two, three or four great companies and push them forward with all the economy and efficiency which such a consolidation would mean."

While the British iron and steel industry is more or less united on selection, its component units are miles apart on merging. It learned from a reliable quarter,

though Mond at a recent meeting with representative steel magnates instead that the creation of trusts was more important for securing the industry's prosperity

than protection.

"Americans are friendly to you people," he said. "We are not competitors." He pleased his hearers by calling them "You boys."

United States Friendly.

"You haven't an unfriendly interest in the United States," he told them. "Or among the people in the United States. There is nothing we have in America regarding manufacturing or costs

that we are not ready to give you it be of any help to you. We are children of Great Britain. You understand our industries."

During his advocacy of British iron and steel trusts, Schwab advised that it would mean industrial revival by increasing coal production and the volume of railway traffic. After pointing out Great Britain's natural advantage in the world's shipping, he said that this factor would not be of much help to him in capturing the world steel and iron market.

He previously had explained that the United States did not compete with Great Britain in such a market, except perhaps in South America and one or two other countries.

Schwab touched on prohibition, saying "I never took a drink unprohibited," and he agreed with

PAIN IN HIS SIDE

Sometimes a Thumping Sensation Made Him Nervous, and His Head Ached—Says Black-Draught Brought Relief.

"For several years I suffered with indigestion," says Mr. W. M. Barger of Crystal, W. Va. "I had a pain in my right side, which rarely ever left me. When I woke up in the morning, it was always with a bad taste in my mouth, and I frequently was troubled with sour stomach."

"Sometimes a thumping would start in my side, which made me very nervous. I was all out of sorts."

"At times I would have headache; so bad I would have to leave my work."

"Black Draught was recommended to me by a friend, and so I began taking it. I started by taking a small pinch after each meal, and before very long I was feeling much better. I kept up the medicine for some time, and my improvement was so great, I felt better than I had felt in years."

"The pain in my side left me, and the sour stomach quit altogether."

"I have found Black-Draught an effective preventive for sick headache and constipation and those troubles which come from constipation."

"I can heartily recommend it to others. We try to keep Black-Draught in our home, and we use it as a family medicine."

MEXICAN BOSS OF AMERICAN MINE HELD

Taken by Armed Band While Owner Is Permitted to Go Free.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, May 4.—The Mexican superintendent of an American mine was held prisoner by an armed band today, but the American owner of the mine was safe in Mexico City.

Robert B. M. Wilson of Chicago, part owner of the Rio de La Plata mine in Guerrero, arrived in the capital as news reports were printing dispatches telling of his having been taken off by bandits.

Wilson said that with a guest, Wendell Hoops of Kalamazoo, Mich., a student at Northwestern University, and Jose Ruedo Bravo, his mine superintendent, he was riding on horseback last Sunday and they were stopped by five armed men. The Wilson party was on its way to visit the mine and was approaching the town of Chilpancingo.

The armed men stated their chief had ordered that Bravo be captured. They declined to accept a ransom and carried off the Mexican and a raincoat and a flashlight taken from the Americans.

Wilson said that Bravo had taken part in local politics and was a candidate for Congress. He believed that political or private grudges were the motive for the kidnapping.

Marine Headquarters Report Condition of Quiet in Nueva Segovia District.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 4.—Brigade headquarters of the marine forces last night said that all was quiet in the department of Nueva Segovia, except for some small bands near the Honduran frontier. Airplanes are making daily trips into that region with mail, supplies and medicines for marines at about 50 different posts.

It is expected at headquarters that a marine officer from the east coast will arrive in a few days and give a full report of recent events in the mining districts. It is believed that the Sandinistas, after robbing and destroying the mines, entered the mountain region in the department of Jinotega, where they have taken cover.

Nationalist Commissioner and Staff Killed at Tsinan Message to Shanghai Declares.

WARSHIPS SENT BY TOKIO GOVERNMENT

More Than 100 of Southern Forces Said to Have Lost Lives in Clashes With Mikado's Troops.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, May 4.—Tsai Kung-Hsin, who only yesterday was appointed Nationalist Commissioner of foreign affairs at Tsinan, and his staff, have been killed by Japanese soldiers, says a message to King Wei-Szu, Nationalist foreign affairs commissioner at Shanghai.

The message came in the form of a telegram from Hwang-fu May, Nationalist minister of foreign affairs, who is at Tsinanfu. The message declared that the Japanese broke into a house to reach the Chinese commissioner.

This incident has not been reported from other sources.

King Wen-Szu stated that he had telegraphed a protest direct to Baron Tanaka, the Japanese Premier, at Tokio, as Hwang-fu May had instructed.

Japanese troops have killed more than 100 Chinese and injured many more in the fighting which has taken place at Tsinan, Shantung province, it is stated here.

The fighting has occurred principally in attempts by the Japanese to dislodge the Chinese and Chinese reports from Tsinan state that machine gun fire has caused their heaviest losses.

Japanese troops were on the move today toward Tsinan.

Reports from Tientsin say that Japanese armored trains laden with reinforcements have left Tsingtao for Tsinan.

Japanese Decline Aid.

Marshal Chang Tso-lin, chief of the Northern forces, is reported to have expressed his regret at the clash between the Japanese and the Nationalists and to have offered to assist the Japanese with arms and ammunition. This offer, the Japanese declined with the explanation that they intended to suppress the outrages without help from other parties.

In addition to a brigade ordered sent from Dairen to Tsingtao, an air unit was sent from Korea and a railway unit from Japan. Another brigade was ordered to go to Dairen to replace the troops sent to Tsingtao. Further reinforcements will be sent from Japan to Tsingtao if necessary.

Unconfirmed Japanese reports said 100 Japanese residents of Tsinan were slain in the fighting with the Nationalists. The Chinese casualties were stated to be 500. The Japanese disarmed 1000 Chinese soldiers.

Japanese advances from Tientsin said that fighting was quelled after seven hours. Some foreigners were reported to have suffered, but whether through looting or fighting was not stated.

A direct radio message from Tsinan said the clashes began yesterday and culminated in a series of incidents which included the shooting of a Nationalist officer. Nationalists urging their cause upon the people in speeches in the streets were detained by the Japanese.

Chinese Said to Be Looting.

Nationalist headquarters said that news of these happenings was suppressed in order to avoid exciting the troops. They said that later, however, Nationalist soldiers were fired upon by Japanese troops as the Nationalists were passing through the streets. The Nationalists returned the fire and a general melee followed in which there were many casualties, both of soldiers and civilians. This precipitated more serious clashes.

Dispatches from Osaka, Japan, today said that the Chinese-Japanese fighting overshadowed the political situation in Japan which resulted from the introduction of a motion of non-confidence in the home minister in the diet. Newspapers were filled with war office reports from Shantung and these indicated that 1000 Southern (Nationalist) soldiers were looting Tsinan.

Fifty Giant Bombers and Pigmy Pursuit Ships of the Air Demonstrate Defense and Attack Formations.

By the Associated Press.

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., May 4.—Fifty fighting ships of the Army Air Corps roared above Langley Field today in mimetic clash between giant bombers and tiny pursuit planes that preceded the joint demonstration of all air corps units against simulated troop columns on the march. Assistant Secretary Robbins and Air Secretary Davison of the War Department, with a group of Senators and House members, witnessed the evolutions from below.

In still day, blazing with yellow sunlight, gave spectators a perfect opportunity to watch the maneuvering, but no cloud to ambush from which the pursuit planes could leap on their prey as the bombers circled in a close triple bank 3000 feet up.

When the score of little single fighters took off in a long line, the second swoop was cumulative, with the assailants sweeping in turn into the circling bombers. It was a deployed attack, a skirmish formation of air.

There was no theoretical checkup of results. That would have necessitated computing the probable execution of the more than 100 .30 and .50 caliber machine guns on the bombers as well as the guns of the attacking ships.

But professional comment on the field below seemed to agree that the close group formation of the Langley bombers had proved it self effectual even against the assault of the Selfridge Field pursuit group.

The Street Car Dispute.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE difference between the Public Service Co. and the street car union is leading either to a strike or a lockout. But I haven't seen where either side has proposed arbitration. Arbitration certainly is the fair and right way to settle disputes of this kind. If either side should refuse arbitration most assuredly it would not have the sympathy of the public. Besides, I understand the contract the union and the company have been working under provides for arbitration to settle all disputes that otherwise cannot be settled.

If the people have to endure the inconvenience of a strike or lockout, I think the thing to do would be to have a bond issue election to enable the city to buy the property and run it as is being done in Detroit. Then the city could have an agreement with the union so there could be no strike. Disagreements could be settled by a vote of the people.

OBSERVER.

The Final Touch.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
AFTER reading your editorial "Around St. Louis" discussing the beauties of Missouri and having the wife read it, I cannot help but say that you have but one more touch to add to this picture to make it complete. And that is, will you please tell us how to acquire the automobile?

A FRIEND.

Congratulations.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
LET me be one of the first to congratulate you on your wonderful editorial and cartoon of May 2. Prohibition was put over by fanatics and money-hungry so-called chosen statesmen, and by all the powers of heaven it should be repealed by the few sensible people still existing (none of us is living) in this country.

If the statesmen elected by us common people only think of hoarding up the almighty shekels for themselves and forget all about us and our rights let the newspapers, and chiefly the Post-Dispatch, lead us on our way to true liberty and justice. A COMMON VOTER.

Ain't Nature Wonderful!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
YOUR editorial, "That Toad Yarn," in Monday's issue has not convinced us that the horned toad which is supposed to have lived for 21 years scaled up in the cornerstone of the Courthouse at Eastland, Tex., is a fraud.

How can the St. Louis Herpetology Society convince us that the toad is only two or three years old when they can't prove that a toad would either age or develop under such conditions? That toad was canned meat, remember.

You say that people will go on ascribing to the toad supernatural qualities just as in some parts of the country they believe that a horseshoe placed in a bottle of water will eventually turn into a snake.

Now, I am not given to "seeing things"; but I distinctly recall the fact that my older brother, when we were youngsters, extracted some hairs from a horse's tail, and the ones he got out by the root (with a good head on, as he said), were put in a barrel of rainwater; and I can vouch for the fact that in about three weeks those hairs became live things that darted around, swimming with distinct movements of head and body and that their steady growth was apparent until at last my brother decided the ground was the place for them. I do not remember how these horseshoe organisms turned out—probably dried up in the sun on the ground—and our childish interest turned to some new diversion. But while they lasted, although received casually, they proved of interest to our parents and visitors.

E. J. H.

Suggests a Straw Vote.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I HAVE just finished reading your editorial on prohibition and I believe you hit while the iron is hot. I think it would be a good idea for your worthy paper to run a straw vote on prohibition and repeal of the eighteenth amendment at this logical moment. I believe a straw vote conducted by newspapers in all large cities also by magazines would give a good platform for our next President-elect to work on. COLD DRINK.

Maybe He's Not So Dumb.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PERHAPS: Cheorio is too severe with the taxi driver who didn't know about the Sharkey-Delaney fight. Possibly the taxi driver realizes that when dollars dominate athletics sport is gone, and refuses to be perturbed about professional athletics. I wonder if he is as dumb as those who paid $6 and $10 for a cross-country view of the glorious Dempsey-Tunney battle at Chicago or the recent local bout for the wrestling championship. To the writer, Red Grange, as the Galloping Ghost of Illinois is a sacred memory. As co-promoter of the present union derby meet, he is something else.

THE AMATEUR.

DICKERING FOR THE FARM VOTE.

The McNary-Haugen farm bill, including the equalization fee provision, has been adopted by the House by an overwhelming vote. The vote was only 13 votes short of a two-thirds majority. It passed the Senate by a vote of more than two to one.

A few amendments were adopted by the House, but they were not important, and it is not expected that there will be much difficulty in bringing the two houses together on a bill satisfactory to both.

The equalization fee provision, which was one of the principal objections of President Coolidge to the former McNary-Haugen bill, has been modified to some extent, with the intention of satisfying the President. Supporters of the bill say, under its present form, the equalization fee machinery will not be utilized unless the revolving fund of $400,000,000 for loans to co-operatives should not supply the relief required by agriculture. They assert that there is little expectation that the equalization fee will come into operation at all. Other changes have been made to meet the President's objections.

Mr. Coolidge vetoed the previous bill on the ground that the policy it embodied was both unsound and unfair. Whether he can bring himself to approve the bill in its present form is a matter of conjecture. Careful consideration of all the provisions of the measure is necessary to discover how much of the unsoundness and unfairness which the President, rightly, we believe, found in the previous bill has been eliminated from the present bill.

It is impossible to tell how much conscientious support the measure has in either the Senate or the House. There is so much politics mixed up in the motives of Congressmen who want to stand well with farmer constituencies, that the real convictions of many of them do not appear either in the debate or in the vote. The debate went far beyond the merits of the bill into the field of practical politics. Presidential candidacies and the effect of the measure on farm constituencies were freely discussed. Some members of both houses voted for the bill on the ground that the farmers and their representatives really wanted it, so let them have what they want.

Doubtless on this measure, as on the previous bill, members of the House and Senate voted for it with the expectation that the President would nullify their mistakes by veto. But this is a presidential year, and the farmer vote is extremely important, so the actual merits of measures affecting large blocks of voters receive little consideration. It is before the commission with a promise to reduce some of its rates in anticipation of having a general reduction thrust upon it.

There is a reason why the cost of water in St. Louis remains unchanged. No expensive valuation and rate battles are waged by this utility before the commission. The valuation battle recently won by the gas utility added $500,000 to the bills of St. Louis gas users. They will pay the attorneys and experts employed by the company, as well as the costs of the hearing to the State.

Water rates do not absorb such charges. They do not support holding companies, and they do not enrich exploiters. Nobody looks to them at last for dividends upon pyramided securities. There is no such charge as that imposed upon local telephone rates by the A. T. & T., which renders a doubtful service but puts in an undoubted bill.

In short, the waterworks simply furnish water, and that is all the people of St. Louis pay for. O, most admirable waterworks!

CINCINNATI'S REVENGE.

Some years ago the Royal Rooters, an organization among Cincinnati baseball fans, came over to St. Louis to get the Reds off properly in the pennant race. These bibulous gentlemen took the top floor of one of our downtown hotels, and there they made merry. They had what Cincinnati has never been without, that is, beer, together with mettwurst, wiener schnitzel, Kartoffelsalat, imported frankfurters, and all else that gladdens the gustatory customs of the city on the Ohio. In the midst of these festivities the Federal prohibition force in St. Louis walked in and arrested everybody, including even Harry Herrmann, president of the baseball club.

This mortal affront to a sister city, and another German city at that, Cincinnati took very quietly. She knew her revenge would come, and it did come this week. The St. Louis Cardinals, who are to us what beer, wiener schnitzel and imported frankfurters are to Cincinnati, are in the midst of a very great misfortune. A half dozen of their stars are in the hospital. Cincinnati took what is left of the team out to Sportsman's Park this week and beat it three games out of four. In Cincinnati they are making one another on the back and shouting joyously, "Das hab' ich ja immer gesagt!"

Repeal the eighteenth amendment.

THE SANTA FE AIR TRAIL.

The old Santa Fe Trail, which was opened in the 1850s, gave St. Louis a contact with the Southwest which the city has never lost. It is still what it was then, the metropolis of all that region between Missouri and the old Spanish capital of New Mexico.

Maj. Albert Bond Lambert points out that the advantage which St. Louis formerly enjoyed as the way to the warmer southern route to California was no longer true than of travel by prairie schooner than it is today of travel by air. As the covered wagon dreaded the snowdrift, so does the aviator dread the snowstorm. There was nothing slow about the St. Louis that improved its opportunity then. It became the gateway to the Southwest. There ought not to be anything slow about the St. Louis of our own time, which can be the aerial gateway to the Southwest.

It needed then the essentials to outfitting for the Western trip. It needs now a municipal airport. They are the same thing in two equally picturesque periods of time.

THE FICTITIOUS FREIGHT CHARGE ON AUTOMOBILES.

In connection with the proposed removal of the war tax on automobiles, some of the automobile manufacturers might take another step to decrease the cost of automobiles. We refer to the practice of adding to the purchase price a freight charge based upon the cost of shipping an assembled car when the manufacturer pays freight only on parts which are assembled after arrival. It was less than frank for certain companies to continue this practice after the establishment of assembly plants throughout the country, and we believe automobile buyers, if they must pay it, would much prefer to have the amount added to the price of the car than to pay a fictitious freight charge.

An Italian scientist says the sun may yet split in two, and we feel ourselves that half of it would be quite enough during July and August.

CALIFORNIA.

In addition to being where the wine grapes come from, California is a great place for Republicans.

In the presidential primaries, Hoover, Republican, without opposition, got three times as many votes as Smith, Reed and Walsh got together.

That is, for every Democrat there are three Republicans. That ought to be enough to safeguard the State from any danger that the Democrats will in our day restore to the people of the State their civil liberties, of which they have been deprived for some time, or that American fascism, which rages out there almost nowhere else in the country, may be tempered by democracy before very long.

California, apparently, is too busy raising grapes, oranges, lemons and prunes to raise Democrats.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1928.

O. MOST ADMIRABLE WATERWORKS!

St. Louis' municipal waterworks made a profit last year of $358,507. Nine years ago it abandoned a 10 per cent discount for prompt payment of water bills. Aside from this change, which increased its annual revenue some $250,000, the cost of water in St. Louis remains where it was before the World War. Water rates here compare favorably with those in all big American cities, including even those on the Great Lakes, where there are no purification and second pumping costs. Water is cheaper in St. Louis, as it should be, than it is in either East St. Louis or St. Louis County, both of which have privately owned water plants.

The contrast between the local water utility and every other public utility in St. Louis is marked. Every one of them except the water utility is before the Missouri Public Service Commission on the matter of rates. The street car utility wants the 8-cent fare made permanent. To prove its right to this fare it is sticking into its valuation such absurdities as that its Hodiamont right of way and others like it are as valuable as the abutting property.

The gas utility wants a "revision" of its rate structure which would increase the bills of all gas users whose monthly bills are under $3.30, estimated by the City Counselor to include 75 per cent of the total number of consumers, as well as increase or decrease bills beyond that figure. This is what is known as reduction at the top, a device to make the small consumer, who has no recourse, pay to a degree for competition. Thus, the gas company is at the top a competitor in heating with oil and coal.

The telephone utility was a temporary increase of $1 month on business phones and an additional increase on business exchanges which remains to be affirmed by the commission. The city's efforts to defeat the increase were thrown out of court on a technicality. Meanwhile, the trial period of 13 months for which the increase was granted has expired. The city is not moving and the company is operating under an indefinite extension. The electric utility reports excessive profits. It is before the commission with a promise to reduce some of its rates in anticipation of having a general reduction thrust upon it.

There is a reason why the cost of water in St. Louis remains unchanged. No expensive valuation and rate battles are waged by this utility before the commission. The valuation battle recently won by the gas utility added $500,000 to the bills of St. Louis gas users. They will pay the attorneys and experts employed by the company, as well as the costs of the hearing to the State.

Water rates do not absorb such charges. They do not support holding companies, and they do not enrich exploiters. Nobody looks to them at last for dividends upon pyramided securities. There is no such charge as that imposed upon local telephone rates by the A. T. & T., which renders a doubtful service but puts in an undoubted bill.

In short, the waterworks simply furnish water, and that is all the people of St. Louis pay for. O, most admirable waterworks!

THE NEW HAVEN REVOLT.

To perpetuate the memory of the spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence; to promote institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge; to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country; and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

These are the declared objects of the Daughters of the American Revolution, yet Mrs. William Lyon Phelps and Mrs. Joseph Whitney of New Haven, Conn., feel they must resign from the society because it has adopted, to use their words, a policy striking at the roots of American freedom and contrary to the spirit of the first amendment of the Constitution which it has sworn to uphold.

The New Haven revolt against the "tyrannical suppression" of the D. A. R. was not confined to Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. Whitney. Nine other members of New Haven chapter also have sent in their resignations. One of these is Mrs. Irving Fisher, whose husband has been blacklisted by the society.

When Mrs. Helen Tufts Baileigh charged the society with being the "most tyrannical organization in the country," the D. A. R. was not surprised.

Joyful Memories

TALES OF A KENTUCKY ADMIRAL. By Hugh Rodman, Rear-Admiral, U. S. N., retired. (Bobbs-Merrill). It should be apparent to any reader of this delightful book of memoirs that Admiral Rodman's life has been far more successful than his rank alone would indicate.

Admiral Rodman is said to be famous in the navy as a raconteur, and his book makes clear the reason for his fame. Unlike the majority of distinguished old men who write their memoirs, he gives indication of feeling that he is performing a duty to posterity. He seems to have set down the story of his life by way of living it again and sharing it with others because it was lived joyfully. His manner is wholly informal, and hundreds of jolly stories, always keenly pointed, keep the reader chuckling most of the time.

A TENDERFOOT WITH PEARY. By George Borup. (Stokes) George Borup was "the kid" of Peary's party when the North Pole was reached, and his story of the expedition deserves reprinting. It was first published about 17 years ago. There is an introduction by Admiral Melville.

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE. By Fiske Kimball. (Bobbs-Merrill)

Indicates for many rise to high rank in every generation, but few indeed are the men who, however successful in the world's eyes, can look back upon their lives from the verge of old age as Rodman does. "My life in the Navy, in general," he writes, "has been one continuous round of joy, interest and pleasure, and after a life's experience in roaming around the world and acquiring a modest knowledge of it I would毫不犹豫地 choose the Navy in preference to any other profession or occupation on earth." One feels inclined to shout "Hooray!" upon reading this passage for to be able to feel so about one's life and work after the best of it is over, and the whole tone of the book supports the passage quoted.

Admiral Rodman, as will be recalled, was in command of the American Battle Squadron co-operating with the British Grand Fleet during the World War. Indicating from the Naval Academy 45 years ago, he saw service in the old-time sailing ships, and he has taken part in practically all the great events associated with our Navy since these days.

REAR-ADmiral RODMAN.

Traces the development of American architecture from the homes of the earliest colonists to the latest skyscraper. Mr. Kimball is a distinguished architect and is now director of the art museum of Philadelphia. There are many illustrations.

BOY IN THE WIND. By George Dillon. (Viking Press.)

THE KING OF SPAIN AND OTHER POEMS. By Maxwell Bodenheim. (Boni & Liveright.) Books of verse.

CHRIST AT THE ROUND TABLE. By E. Stanley Jones. (Abingdon Press.)

E. Stanley Jones, whose "Christ of the Indian Road" was received with favor, here tells of informal conferences held in India attended by Christians and representatives of other faiths at which the claims of the various religions were frankly presented and discussed without hostility. It is useful to students of comparative religion in the illumination it gives of the various beliefs and their effects. Conclusions, in the main, are not arrived at, these are left to the reader. The question that the author comes to summing up is this statement: "Christ represents Religion. Organized Christianity, mixed as it is with the mind of Caesar and the mind of Christ, is a religion. Religions must be judged and evaluated in the light of Religion. I feel free, therefore, to evaluate or criticize or commend non-Christian religions as well as the present organized Christian religion, in the light of Christ, who is Religion."

MUSSOLINI THE MAN OF DESTINY. By Vittorio E. De Fiori. (E. P. Dutton & Co.)

Mario A. Pei, the translator of this work, remarks at the outset that the many biographers of Mussolini have been partisan and promises that here will be found the only well-balanced account of the man's life and appraisal of his character. The promise is not fulfilled. It is another partisan discussion. It could hardly be anything else, for De Fiori is one of the original founders of the Fascist movement in this country and an ardent admirer of Mussolini. His appraisal is obviously outspokenly that of a partisan. It is a very good biography, covering chronologically the leader's life from his birth to his ascent to power, and, as a friendly estimate, is interesting, but not to be taken as conclusive except in so far as it survives the testing of comparison with the divergent views of other authors who have discussed other sides of the many-sided dictator.

FIVE STATES REACH ACCORD ON AUTO TAGS

Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas to Recognize Each Other's Plates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., May 4.—Reciprocal legislation having to do with automobile license tags affecting the states of Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, was recommended in resolutions adopted at a conference here yesterday attended by representatives of these states.

The effect of the agreement, which will be carried out through legislation, would exempt traveling salesmen and other nonresidents transacting business within the state of Oklahoma from purchasing an Oklahoma license tag. This would not include trucks operating with a fixed terminal.

There is such a reciprocal agreement in effect in the other states, it was stated at the conference, but Oklahoma had not recognized it yet.

It is proposed to present to the Legislatures of each of the states at their regular sessions next year proposed laws that will give further effect and amplification to the agreement.

An organization was formed for the purpose of uniform action in the matter. Charles U. Becker, Secretary of State of Missouri, was elected president; L. G. Phares, Texas Highway Department; Charles Steinberger, Missouri Highway Department; R. L. Seaman, secretary, Oklahoma Highway Department; Viette Kiebler, Arkansas Highway Department, vice president; R. A. Singletary, chairman, Good Roads Division, Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, general secretary.

A representative of the Kansas Highway Department will be named later.

Surprised by Policeman at 4564 Kennerly; Flees Through House Next Door.

A robber surprised by a police man in the act of holding up the manager of a grocery at 4564 Kennerly avenue at 7:25 a.m. today shot at four times and escaped on foot although apparently badly wounded.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Deer Street Station had entered the store shortly after it opened and, following a talk with the manager, Daniel Ramsey of Overland, stopped behind door in the rear of the store. A few minutes later the robber entered and ordered Ramsey to throw up his hands.

The store manager was between Patrolman Halpin and the robber, so the policeman was obliged to hold his fire. He stepped out. As he did so the robber bolted for the door. Ramsey dropped to the floor and Patrolman Halpin fired four shots at the fugitive. He staggered, fell, got up again and ran next door to the home of Mrs. William Carrant at 4566 Kennerly avenue.

When Mrs. Carrant came to the front door the fugitive, bleeding apparently from several wounds, asked if he could go to the basement. Patrolman Halpin was close behind him, and without waiting for the startled woman to answer, the robber pushed her aside, ran through the house and disappeared.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 4.—Hughy Jennings, baseball player who died Feb. 1, left personal property valued at $151,734, according to an inventory disclosed that Jennings owned 59 shares of stock in the National Exhibition Co., owner of the New York Giants, valued at $5000. He also owned at the time of his death stocks in two local banks valued

The expected type of industry along the surface line from an elevated structure or a subway, it was declared by Fischer and an engineering representative of the company. The engineer added the following explanation of why the subway, surface and elevated tracks would have to be located exactly as planned:

Short blocks and future needs for an underground terminal would require the subway switching area to extend north from Washington avenue to O'Fallon street; private property in the block between O'Fallon and Cass offered the only chance to bring the line up out of the ground, and the grade to do that would be the heavy one of 2.8 per cent, which probably would prevent handling of more than about a dozen freight cars in one train.

Extension of the subway would be prohibitive in cost because of a hill near Chambers street, and the large amount of private ground that would be needed for a portal. Extension of the elevated line between Palm and Cass would cost about $200,000 more than surface tracks, but it would be almost impossible to connect it with the subway because where it started descending to grade streets would be blocked. There would be interference with the city's contemplated double-deck highway in Mullanphy street, a block north of Cass, and considerable private property would have to be acquired for it.

Would Enlarge Station.

The proposed franchise, as has been told, contemplates enlargement of the St. Louis terminal by construction of the passenger, freight and express station downtown, with underground tracks; provision for additional underground tracks between there and O'Fallon street for future warehouses and factories; change from a subway to surface tracks just south of Cass avenue; the 15 blocks of surface line, the elevated approach to the bridge, and a branch elevated down Dock street to the wharf, reaching the projected freight yard.

President Fischer said Illinois Terminal expected to handle 250,000 loaded freight cars annually on its whole system, producing a freight revenue of about $4,000,000 a year. That, he explained, included 140,000 cars on the East Side local lines, extending as far as Alton, Edwardsville, Troy and O'Fallon, Ill., and 110,000 on Illinois Traction between St. Louis and Central Illinois.

No Compensation to City.

No compensation to the city is provided for the franchise rights is provided in the proposed ordinance. The city has no jurisdiction over freight or passenger rates of Illinois Terminal, so far as the Municipal Law Department has ascertained; such control being vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The present franchise, granted in 1907, sought to fix the passenger fare between St. Louis and Granite City at 5 cents, but that was abrogated and now the rate is 15 cents for a cash fare.

Although the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, the Wabash, the Missouri Pacific, the Chicago & Alton and the company operating the rail bridge at Alton had intervened before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Illinois Terminal merger, they entered no protest and adduced no testimony. At the Terminal of St. Louis office today it was said the merger was immaterial to it.

Says It Would Better Service.

The I.C.C. was told that the old Illinois Terminal had 98 per cent of its business in freight interchange with trunk lines and other carriers, and was not used for intermediate movements or switching service among connecting lines. The purpose of the merger was stated to be expedition of service and not the development of a switching road nor injury to other carriers. It was urged that the merger would conform to public policy in joining weak and strong lines.

The new Illinois Terminal penetrates a busy and growing East Side area of varied heavy industries, in addition to the potential industrial section of North St. Louis. Its Illinois Traction lines through Central Illinois reach a productive mining, agricultural and industrial territory, but compete with a number of steam railroads. They serve 88 towns and villages, and 48 coal mines, and give exclusive service to six coal mines, 36 grain elevators and 24 other enterprises. Electricity is the power of the Illinois and Illinois Traction units and steam on the East Side network.

It is proposed to lease the Carleton Building, High street and Washington avenue, for the new passenger terminal here. Harry J. Niehaus, secretary of the Carleton company, has announced that the railroad will use only basement space for tracks and room enough on the first floor for a station, leaving the bulk of the first floor and its upper nine stories for the Carleton company, which, Niehaus pointed out, is not going out of business.

Rules
For Cooking and Serving*Fresh Vegetables

1.—Fresh vegetables are an important part of the diet, not for their high caloric value, but for their wealth of vitamins and mineral salts which are so important to health. Some of the mineral salts are dissolved out into the water in which the vegetables are cooked, some of the vitamin content is destroyed by the cooking. Therefore, in order to give your family the greatest amount of vitamins and mineral salts, serve vegetables raw whenever possible.

2.—Start all vegetables to cook in boiling water.

3.—Cook green vegetables in a covered pan in as small amount of water as possible.

4.—Save any liquid drained from the vegetables to use as soup stock.

5.—Cook strong-flavored vegetables in a larger amount of water than the leafy ones and in an uncovered kettle so that the volatile oils may escape.

6.—Add salt after the vegetables are partially cooked.

7.—In heating canned vegetables, never strain off the liquid or wash the vegetables, but cook them in the liquid in as short a time as possible.

SERVE YOUNG VEGETABLES

Science has shown that in the young new vegetables there is a higher vitamin content than in the older ones.

Market stands have a good showing of crisp green things; young carrots in bunches, new beets, pale green new cabbage, young spinach as well as dandelion greens, field salad, watercress, etc., are all coming into their own and are not expensive. Artichokes, broccolli, kohlrabi, cucumbers, hothouse tomatoes may be had for those who want them.

Radishes are becoming increasingly abundant, as are the spring onions or scallions, which should be freely used for salads.

when melted add a teaspoon of finely chopped onion. Fry this a golden color and then add the ham, rice and seasoning—which may include a very little sage if you like the flavor.

Have ready some thick white sauce—about a half cup for two cups of the ham. Mix an egg yolk with the white sauce and turn into the ham mixture. Stir over a low fire until it thickens slightly and then set aside on a plate to cool. Shape into balls, dip in the egg white, which may be diluted with a teaspoon of cold milk, and then roll in fine crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Foods that "live in glass houses" have no blinds to draw over imperfections. Since only selected foods in perfect condition can pass the housewife's careful inspection, only selected foods in perfect condition are packed in glass.

WHEN you want to be sure of getting the choicest fruits of the orchard, the finest vegetables from the farm, or selected meats or sea-foods, ask for the brands that come packed in glass, the symbol of quality.

You will not only get the best quality but also the full, fresh, natural flavor, unchanged, preserved for you, by air-tight, leak-proof seals.

And you will get full measure—you see it. Glass packed beverages, condiments, confections, dressings, fish, fruits and fruit products, household necessities, meats, nuts and nut butter, relishes and vegetables have long been the choice of American housewives. Glass packed products do not cost more because they are packed in glass, it is because of the higher quality of the foods themselves.

TASTY APPETIZERS

FOR COMPANY MEALS

Number of Them Which Appear Intricate Are Easily Made.

Every woman who entertains is constantly casting about in her mind for foods that offer something that is just a little different. Along this line I would suggest that you acquaint yourself with the large class of appetizers that when properly made, supply a quite distinguishing touch to an otherwise ordinary meal.

Smart restaurants often make a specialty of hors d'oeuvres and charge a high price for them. There are a number of them that can be made very simply and by a little clever garnishing made to appear very intricate.

Cannapes are one of the most popular. There are also a number of excellent fruit appetizers. Of course, to live up to its name, the appetizer must be something that stimulates the appetite. It must also be small so as to act as an appetizer for the food that is to follow.

Cannapes are made from small slices of bread cut in various shapes which are either toasted or fried and then spread with a variety of mixtures.

It is a good plan to serve two or three kinds of canapes, or an assortment of hors d'oeuvres. For instance, a thin slice of tomato large enough to cover a small round of toasted or fried bread may be spread with anchovy paste, then sprinkled with finely chopped hard boiled egg yolk and minced parsley. Accompanying it may be pimento canape made by sauteing slices of pimento in butter and covering oblong strips of toasted or fried bread with them. The third canape may be made by sauteing circular pieces of bread in olive oil, spreading with a thin layer of caviar, seasoned with lemon juice and then placing a thin ring of Bermuda onion over the caviar. Small pieces of stuffed celery may be served with the canapes.

One of the compartment plates or glass dishes might very advantageously be used in the serving of an assortment of hors d'oeuvres. A four-compartment dish might, for instance, have in one compartment boiled, chilled, peeled, fresh shrimp. In the next thick slices of cucumber cut so as to form a small cup, the centers filled with flaked salmon, mixed with a few relish or tartar sauce. They may be garnished with minced onions or with chopped green pepper and placed on a bed of watercress. The third compartment could contain stuffed celery cut into pieces and large stuffed olives. The fourth, canned artichoke hearts spread with a little mayonnaise and garnished with sliced stuffed olives.

Asparagus may be steamed. Arrange the bunch in the steamer, sprinkle lightly with salt and steam until tender. Or it may be boiled—have ready enough boiling salted water to nearly cover the asparagus. Put in the asparagus, cover and keep boiling continually and steadily, but slowly until the vegetable is done (15 to 25 minutes). Drain and serve.

Until the bunch is snap off each stalk as far back on the stalk as it will snap easily. Wash thoroughly in cold water. It may again be boiled into a bunch.

Asparagus may be served plain with melted butter poured over it. The butter may be creamed with chopped parsley, a bit of the grated rind of an orange and some of the juice.

Creamed or buttered asparagus makes a delicious combination with new potatoes.

Fresh asparagus makes tempting side dishes or just the tips may be used in vegetable cocktails.

The stalks and water in which asparagus cooks will always be saved, as it makes delicious soups.

WHEN TO SALT VEGETABLES
This is a Mooted Question Which Cooks Must Settle for Themselves.

According to experiments recently carried on by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, there is in most cases very little difference in the food value of cooked vegetables when the salt is added at the beginning of the cooking process or after the vegetables are cooked.

The texture and the flavor are much better when the salt is added in the beginning or during the first few minutes of cooking than it seems justifiable to use it later rather than to lose part of the flavor by adding the salt later. There is some opinion to the effect that vegetables take a little longer to cook when they are salted, but these experiments do not seem to carry that out.

Whipped Cream. Heat the can in water to boiling, remove, place on ice to chill thoroughly. When cool open, pour contents into chilled bowl which has been thoroughly chilled, whip as usual for about five minutes. Sweeten and flavor to taste. Keep covered.

CHICKEN AND BANANA DISH

If You Have Never Tried This Dish Make It for Sunday Dinner.

Melt one-fourth of a cup of butter, add to it one finely minced onion and two young chickens, cut in pieces for serving; cover and simmer ten minutes, add a cup of chicken stock and cook until the meat is tender. Remove the chicken, put the onion with stock through a sieve and bind with one and one-half tablespoons each of flour and butter, blended.

Bring to the boiling point, season with salt and pepper and add cream to make the gravy of the right consistency. Cut two bananas into diagonal half-inch slices, dip in flour and cook in butter;

You'll like the tempting taste of juicy tomatoes and the spicy tang of the tabasco, blended to produce the inimitable flavor of Brooks Tabasco Catsup. Get it in the distinctive tapered bottle from your grocer today.

EGGS ARE WHOLESOME FOR SPRING MEALS

AN EASILY PREPARED COMPANY DINNER

The Wise Housekeeper Uses
Them in as Many Ways
as Possible.

Simple Dishes Attractively Cooked and Served Are Always Enjoyed.

SEASONABLE FRUIT CUP

A Dainty Refreshment Which Will Be Relished by Your Guests.

Peel, section and cube three oranges, dice one small can sliced pineapple, and arrange in cocktail glasses with alternate layers of orange, sliced bananas and coconut. Sprinkle lightly with sugar, pour pineapple juice over all. Serve very cold with crisp cookies.

NOTE—There are various ways of changing this recipe. Grape juice is delicious poured over the fruit; strawberries may be added;
it may be topped with whipped cream and a sprinkling of candied mint or peanut brittle.

Use of Leftover Foods.

As for sequence, translated into everyday terms, this means a sensible use of leftovers. Starting with a roast, for example, the careless housewife serves leftovers from the same roast in so monotonous a fashion that the family rises up in protest. The careful housewife, on the other hand, does not serve leftovers from the roast continuously for several meals. She introduces some other attractive dishes, being careful all the while to see that the leftover meat or whatnot is put away in immaculate dishes at a temperature which will insure its keeping completely fresh.

SHREDDED CABBAGE SALAD

Mix together two cups of finely shredded raw cabbage, one cup of diced celery, one-half shredded green pepper and one and one-half cups of seedless raisins. Add enough cooked salad dressing (well seasoned) to moisten the salad.
Serve on crisp lettuce with watercress and garnish with a few finely chopped nut meats. This salad has enough food value to form the main part of the luncheon or supper.

In poaching eggs, have the water boiling when the eggs are dropped in,
then immediately reduce the temperature to below the boiling point. Cooked in this way, the white of eggs will be firm, but very tender; in fact, almost jelly-like.

For scrambled eggs have the fat in the pan hot when the eggs are put in and again reduce the heat and stir constantly until the eggs are firm. Scrambled eggs may be varied in flavor by adding a few chopped chives, a little grated onion, minced parsley, a few cooked green peas, chopped
mushrooms, etc.

In frying eggs, much better results are obtained if they are cooked slowly in a pan covered.
This has the same effect
as poaching in that the yolk is coated with a film of white and the egg白 need to be turned. The pan and the fat should be hot when the eggs are put in and in many cases, the heat can be turned off entirely, and the eggs will cook in the hot pan.

CUCUMBERS AND CARROTS

Almost Every Day We Hear of Some New Vegetable Combination.

Peel four large cucumbers, cut into halves lengthwise, take out the seeds, cut into pieces and boil in salted water 15 minutes. Drain and add a cup of white sauce, to which chopped pimento and parsley have been added.

Turn into a hot dish and garnish with stuffed carrots, made as follows: Scrape and trim eight carrots, boil in salted water until tender, remove the centers and fill with a bean puree made by rubbing half a cup of boiled beans through a sieve and adding two tablespoons of mashed potatoes,
a tablespoon of melted butter and a quarter of a teaspoon each of salt, celery salt and pepper. Two

ABOUT ICE CREAM, THE IDEAL DESSERT

This Frozen Dainty Is Generally Known as "The American Dessert."

The rural housewife interested in food problems, home economics, food emporiums and the manufacture of commercial food products, when she comes to visit a great city like St. Louis, finds her eyes fairly bulging with astonishment when she makes a tour of inspection of the big modern equipped, sanitary food manufacturing plants that ornament our city.

However, even the city housewife who oftentimes knows less of this city of hers than does the sightseeing rural visitor, will register genuine surprise if she accepts the cordial invitation of the Pevely Dairy Co. to visit its new ice cream plant on Chouteau Avenue, when she is told that this new $500,000 plant is equipped to make 12,000 gallons of ice cream a day, which on short notice may be increased to 40,000 gallons a day capacity. And that 30 stock flavors are carried in bulk ice cream and a special combination flavored brick is featured each week in addition to the 15 other varieties ordinarily carried.

Such an aggregation of figures as these are simply overwhelming to the average housewife who considers making a quart of ice cream in her own kitchen such a hardship that the home-made product has almost been replaced on the American dinner table by the commercialized product.

The inquiring housewife will find, as she proceeds on her tour of inspection of this new ice cream plant, that all the rooms are lined with white porcelain tiles and that many of the rooms are of white enamel brick and have Terrazzo floors, whose corners are rounded in the very latest and most sanitary manner.

The mighty power of the factory is electricity, and all machinery and fittings are of monal metal, which is held to neither corrode, rust nor tarnish. The packing and freezing rooms are insulated with cork linings in walls and ceilings, and have double windows, so as to hold the temperature at 40 degrees or under.

In the can storage room the cork insulation holds the temperature at freezing point for the twofold purpose of preventing any bacteria accumulation after the empty cans have been sterilized and made ready to be filled and also to make the cans of the same temperature as the ice cream which will be put in them with the view of preventing any crystallization of the frozen cream.

The products of which the ice cream is made, pure cream, pure milk, pure cane sugar and flavoring or fresh fruit seasoning as the requirements may be, are mixed together in large metal containers and pasteurized at 145 degrees, at which temperature the mixture is held for 30 minutes and then cooled to 35 degrees by means of a direct expansion surface cooler which is enclosed in a glass partitioned room.

From these vats the mixture flows into giant thermos tanks, where it remains until pumped into freezers where it is frozen into ice cream. When frozen the product is conveyed through a series of tubes to the packing room.

The empty cans in the meantime have been washed and sterilized in rooms set aside for the purpose and which are equipped with the latest type can washer system. The cans then pass to the packing room (which on account of the equipment is said to be the most modern and efficient in any ice cream plant in this country), where the frozen ice cream has been conveyed, you remember, by modern machinery also.

The frozen cream is forced into the cans by special machinery or else it is molded into the familiar ice cream brick as the need suggests. The filled cans and the molded bricks are then passed on to the hardening room, where the product is finished through being frozen into a solid mass which makes it ready for distribution to thousands of stores, stands and homes.

With a view of entertaining clubs, fraternal, educational and religious organizations, a reception room and auditorium is included in the new ice cream plant. They are placed at the disposal of men's and women's organizations for meetings and entertainments free of charge.

Healthful Form of Milk.

Various preparations of fermented milk which we find on the market are for the most part very palatable, digestible and nourishing. The bacteria used in producing the lactic acid fermentation in the milk are useful in combatting the action of the harmful bacteria in the human system that are produced by the putrefying of undigested foods in the intestines.

FROM THE CABBAGE FAMILY

Several of the Family Have Developed Into Real Aristocrats. Broccoli and cauliflower are both varieties of cabbage. Cauliflower, as we know, has been developed by hundreds of years of cultivation and probably originated centuries ago in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean.

Broccoli is really a form of cauliflower as it was before it became so educated. Broccoli looks like cauliflower except that the heads are smaller and coarser, the stems longer and the color, instead of off-white, varies from dark green to a green with a tinge of purple. It is used just as cauliflower is used.

Oriental Sandwiches.
Mix cream cheese with a little sweet cream and add chopped peanuts. Spread on buttered toast, sprinkle with chopped peanuts and cover with toast.

A few years ago Duz chemists discovered and patented an exclusive process for combining Oxygen with soap. As Duz dissolves in tub or washing machine the imprisoned Oxygen is liberated, making millions of tiny Oxygen bubbles, which secrete and absorb, absorbing and washing out dirt, yellowness and stains. The Oxygen in Duz Suds cleans clothes as Oxygen anywhere cleanses, purifies and sterilizes. Duz is as safe and effective as air and sunshine.

No other soap makes Oxygen Suds.
Duz
The soap that makes Oxygen Suds. Washes out harmlessly—all yellowness and the most stubborn stains. Without hard rubbing, boiling and bluing.

Old Dutch guards the home with

Healthful Cleanliness

and is your greatest help for housecleaning

Old Dutch Cleanser homes are healthful homes. Old Dutch brings Healthful Cleanliness and is your greatest help at house-cleaning time. Old Dutch Cleanser cleans with scientific efficiency and represents a significant advance in modern home cleaning. It is perfect for porcelain and enamel, tile, painted woodwork, floors, steps, windows, utensils, etc., in fact for all cleaning throughout the house. There is nothing else like it.

The flaky, flat-shaped particles of Old Dutch do not scratch, they erase visible dirt in a clean sweep, as illustrated in this drawing of a highly magnified particle; and by a process similar to "adsorption" take up and carry away all the dangerous, invisible impurities, making everything clean, wholesome and sparkling with Healthful Cleanliness. Old Dutch doesn't scratch.

Avoid harsh, scratchy grit. This drawing of a highly magnified gritty particle shows how grit scratches. Scratches not only mar the beauty of surfaces, but are lodging places for dirt and impurities. There is no scratchy grit in Old Dutch.

The Old Dutch way is the safe, sure way to Healthful Cleanliness

MOST SHARES ON THE CURB MARKET HIGHER

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 4.—Curb market traders, free for a few more days at least from fears of a higher discount rate and to heed reports of the latest brokers' loans totals on record, read improved utility earnings reports as a sign today and went on the second great buying spree of the week.

Total sales again exceeded 1,000,000 shares and the number ran far behind the market's price of a few of the stocks, up to higher levels with gains running as high as 60 points.

United Gas improvement again attracted, and most of the buying in the group, and most of the gains closing at 14½, a new high point.

The company, the same as the "A" and "B" issues, is a new peak in America, and the "A" issue reached a new low. Miller, Morris and Neisner also made good gains.

Ill. div. stocks were rather neglected, although demand seems to have increased in Consolidated Coal Mines.

That Headache!

Mrs. E. C. Schneller

"Ever since I first tried Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets I have been taking them whenever I have felt the need of something to relieve me of headache, and they have never failed. I would have headache day after day and the 'Pellets' have proved to be the only remedy to relieve me. I find them very mild as a laxative, or cathartic, and they do not leave any bad after effects. I am always glad to recommend Dr. Pierce's 'Pellets'!"—Mrs. E. C. Schneller, 327 5th St., S. W., Mason City, Iowa.

Obtain a vial of Pellets now of your druggist and see how quickly you'll feel clear headed—full of vim and vitality. 60 Pellets for 30c.

THE WAY
—OF—A WOMAN
—BY—
Marguerite Moers Marshall

WOMEN ARE GOOD SOLDIERS. So much justifiable publicity is given to women with well-paid or important, or at least interesting jobs in the business or professional world, that we are all likely to forget that the great majority of self-supporting women belong to the ranks and file. They are not particularly well paid; not even as well-paid, many statistical studies prove, as men doing the same work. They are important as a group, because without them wheels would stop going around, but their individual importance seldom impresses either themselves or others. Goodness knows, their jobs—standing over a machine or behind a counter, sitting at a typewriter—are not packed with thrilling interest. Yet they do these jobs capably, honestly and with only a legitimate amount of grumbling. Women, it seems to us, have proved themselves good soldiers in the wage-earning world—and how many of such good soldiers there are!

Two recent announcements by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor give a "woman's angle" on the rank and file of workingwomen. What woman who is trying to give her own young daughter the joy of youth, as well as its proper training, can be uninterested in the discovery, by the Women's Bureau, that there are nearly two million young girls under 20 working for a living in America?

There are nearly 2,000,000 young American girls for whom spring's playground for all young things is barred this very April—unless some of the rest of us help to take down the bars. But the warning by Miss Mary Anderson, director of the Women's Bureau, best expresses society's responsibility to these youngest recruits in the women's army of good soldiers: "A girl who must leave school before she has reached her maturity is running the risk of losing the chance to develop her fullest possibilities. If she is forced to take employment—where hours are long and work is heavy or monotonous, where pay is low and working conditions are bad, both her health and her outlook on life will suffer."

"There is, however, one in which the girl who must work may find a middle path, but it is up to her employer and her community to see that she does find it. Reasonable hours in plants where working conditions are good, with sufficient money in her pay envelope at the end of the week to guard against worry over financial difficulties—give a girl these things, and she will have strength after her work day is over for both physical and mental self-improvement and for the ordinary happy play that all young things need."

MANY married women who work outside their homes are of objection to their unmarried feminine competitors. It is natural for married women, who have organized their jobs with convenient hours, feel that the double responsibility of home and office is not too heavy. But Miss Anderson reminds us such women in more or less special cases in the big army of married women workers who do not enjoy carrying two hard and heavy jobs—a long day at work, another day's work at night for home and children. It is stark necessity, she insists, which drives these working wives and which should at least render them immune to criticism.

Seventy-five per cent of the two million married women gainfully employed at present are between 20 and 44 years of age, according to the Women's Bureau. Three-fourths of the married women at work outside their homes are forced to leave their family responsibilities during the years when they are most needed.

"Women," sums up Miss Anderson, "take employment—young when they leave school; and if they stop work to get married it is only a short time before circumstances force them back to their jobs again. Very few women would choose to carry two jobs for the pleasure of doing so—spend from eight to 12 hours a day over a machine or work bench, or office desk, and then go home to another stretch of labor over home duties that consume time which should be free for rest and recreation."

They are, we insist, good soldiers in the war of living—and, even though they have as thin a time as most common soldiers, the rest of us ought at least give them credit for valor, loyalty and service!"

Calves' Brains and Bacon.

A little out of the ordinary and mighty good for the person who likes a good breakfast and then skips the middle of the day meal. Soak one-half pound calves' brains over night in one quart of cold water, to which has been added two teaspoonsfuls of salt. In the morning add one egg and beat thoroughly. Cook in melted butter in a frying pan stirring as you would scrambled eggs. Serve on a heated platter with strips of crisp bacon on top and garnishings of parsley.

Curtain Time Again.

It is nearly time to take down the curtains and draperies. One woman washes her curtains and then slips them on a rod to dry. They dry evenly and are much easier to fold for packing purposes.

SMART, BUT MAKE SILLY MARRIAGE

By Lucy Lowell

I've been wondering a lot lately just how it is that women's education and intelligence and culture and wide general experience in living can manage to make such fools of themselves when it comes to marriage.

It isn't so bad when they're young; a girl of 18 or 20, or even 23, is expected to pull a piece of poor judgment now and then. No matter how much good sense she possessed, naturally she lacks experience and accordingly is due a little leniency if she marries someone who turns out to be quite different from what she thought he was and they wind up in disaster.

But it's the woman who turned 30 I'm thinking about; the one who oftentimes is considered especially keen business person or a success in some profession; one who would be the first to condemn sentimental wandering in someone else.

A woman of this type we are considering a position of any sort would consider it from all angles; she would assemble all possible information and analyze this at every point. And if there were no weakness about it, one thing which would make the new position seem to her less desirable than her old one, she would turn it down forthwith as concisely as if she had wasted a moment thinking about it.

But let that same woman—oh, I don't say they're all this way, but a lot of them are—meet up with some vague, uncharted male who has not a thing to recommend him but a pleasant, soft-spoken manner and perhaps a knack of making himself seem an adequate background; and let this male invite her to marry him; does she hunt around for all the information she can get about him? Does she consider his weak points along and carefully as she considers the ones that appeal to her? Does she ask herself if she will be happier and better off married to him or making her way without him? She does not. She craves into marriage, and nine times out of ten it turns out to be a case between a pet lapdog and a perpetual expense.

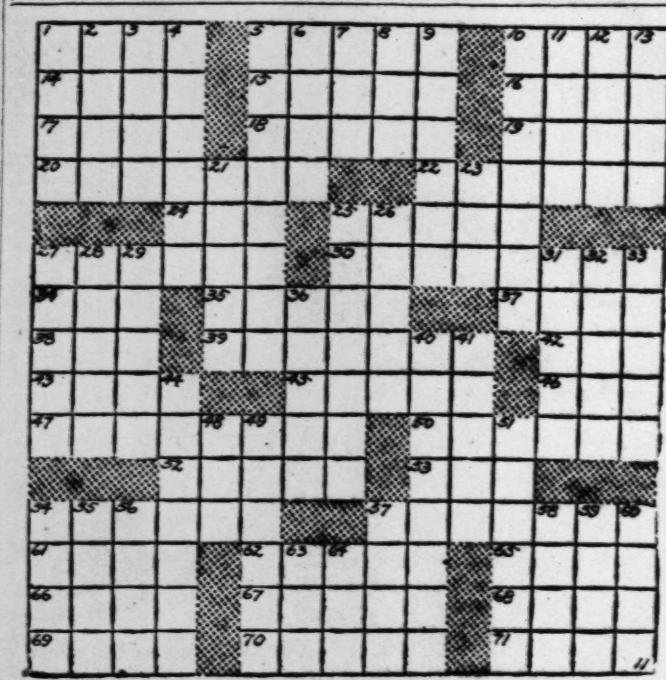

Why do they do it? Blessed if I know!

Of course, it's because they don't stop to think. But why don't they stop to think?

I don't know. Neither do I, probably.

Fashion Fads and Fancies

By Mildred Ash.

LUSTING After Luster—Spring millinery is embracing circlet trimmings—flowers, quills and ribbons all have the circlet finish and full felt or straw hat bodies are often embroidered or appliqued in cellulose straw. Many of the latest sports hats are woven of angora wool and cellulose straw.

Crisp and chic are the charming organdie dance frocks that are being developed in picturesque period styles for very young girls. Combining several shades of the same color secures many attractive effects in these simple, girlish models.

Cheering for navy has a fashion rather than a patriotic significance, for navy kid gloves are among the smartest accessories of the coming spring season. With the severely tailored street dress or two-piece suit of navy cheviot, herringbone, twill or serge, no glove could be more strictly in place nor more practical for the light shades all soil so rapidly.

Placing bets on nets seems perfectly safe if one is inclined to gamble on advance fashions. Embroidered cotton nets, generously lace-trimmed, promise to be increasingly popular for formal evening wear. The soft beige shades are forecast to enjoy the greatest favor.

Slipping through silks about the neck, and fastening with a single clasp, a narrow bracelet-like band of a darker tone of suede matches the border on a pair of light suede gloves that stress the two-tone effect.

meats, eggs, fruits, vegetables, etc., the stomach acids and glands are secreted into the intestines. These movements are voluntary; after the act of swallowing is completed, the movements of the food are beyond the control of the will.

The stomach is a bag-shaped organ, the walls of which are largely made up of involuntary or smooth muscle-fibers. It is marked off from the intestines by a strong circular muscular band, the pylorus. During digestion in the stomach the pylorus remains closed, except at intervals when it opens momentarily to allow the ejection of a well-digested bolus of food into the intestine. The movements of the stomach, technically called peristalsis, consists first of a series of waves of contraction running from the upper end toward the pylorus. There is another stomach movement, a turning or side-like wave, rolling from side to side like an electric washer. Both these movements, the contraction wave and the rolling, are seen easily by the physician with the X-ray. They are controlled by the automatic or vegetative nervous system, which sends two sets of fibers to the stomach—one set accelerating the movements and one set inhibiting them. These nerve-fibers are coordinated in one of the large ganglia of the vegetative nervous system—the solar plexus—which owing to the close connection of one Mr. Sharkey, as I remember it, was the first anatomical term I ever learned.

The stomach empties itself about four hours. The food, in various states of digestion, is then carried forward by the intestinal peristalsis, which is much like the constrictive movement of the stomach. It is carried forward at a rate slow enough for the intermixing of intestinal, pancreatic and liver juices, for the conversion of food into assimilable form, and for absorption through the intestinal walls, into the blood. Finally, through the ileo-cecal valve, it reaches the large intestine, where absorption, except for water, largely ceases and the waste products are excreted with the mucus, bacteria and epithelial debris from the entire intestinal tract in the form of feces, a stool or mold of which is evacuated from the body by the act of defecation once, according to the immutable standard of modern civilization, in every 24 hours.
